

HR Consulting & HR Interim Management

Flexibility fosters development.

Flexibility in thinking and acting is crucial for successfully working with human capital and therewith further increasing company success.

Maybe you currently work on one of the following projects:

- Human Resources processes require a thorough review and you decided to get external support.
- The head of HR leaves your company on short-term notice and a qualified replacement is needed as soon as possible.
- Your company plans outsourcing activities. A respective communication strategy needs to be developed and executed to maintain communication lines with works council and employees open.
- Managers want your support to change the organizational design of their departments to enable developmental moves.
- You are asked to introduce a new internal job evaluation method to ensure marked-based compensation and remain an employer of choice.

We want to encourage flexibility in thinking and acting. Together with you we want to shape your company's future. We offer HR consulting and HR interim management. That comprises consulting for specific topics (such as organizational design for a department), project management (such as the implementation of new talent management systems) as well as interim replacement of your HR resources. Our solutions are tailor-made to fit your needs.

transparentia founder and owner Corinna Hofmann offers broad generalist HR skills with a special focus on compensation / job evaluation using the Hay© system and talent management.
